Description:

This foursquare style house is a three bay frame structure with German siding at the first story and wooden shingles at the second story. Windows have six over one light sash with a semi-hexagonal projecting bay at the second story level. There is also a projecting bay on the north side elevation. The hip roof has hip roofed dormers. The main entrance is located in the center bay of the front elevation. A wraparound porch is supported by square columns on brick bases.

This is an excellent example of the foursquare style, and is associated with Funkstown's development in the early 20th century.
